Professional Experience

Imani McMillan is a Southern California native specializing in Industrial Real Estate. Imani's business and accounting background led her to the commercial real estate field to follow her passion of problem solving. During her time at DAUM she has been involved in numerous transactions which has led her to working with one of DAUM's top salesman David Freitag. She focuses on making connections with all clients in order to help reach their end-goal. She also focuses on communication and marketing of all transactions. Imani's quick ability to adapt, her understanding of the commercial real estate market and her goal to always problem solve has led to make closed transactions.
