

Austin Miller

Associate

Professional Experience

Austin Miller joined DAUM shortly after receiving his B.A. in Economics from Pepperdine University, while playing division one water polo. Prior to his experience at DAUM, Austin worked as a sales associate at a technical recruiting company where his key focus was establishing lasting relationships with clientele that were based on delivery and excellence. During his sales career, Austin decided he saw an amazing opportunity in the commercial real estate business and decided to quickly get his California real estate license certification. Austin's early experience with sales and a consultative mind set has forged his ability to thrive in the commercial real estate industry and pave his way as an outstanding broker.
