Professional Experience

Professional Experience | Career Summary

While attending California State University, Fullerton, Zac worked at an insurance and solar company, focusing on sales. After graduating, he chose to explore his options further. His experience in sales has allowed him to gain the edge over his peers and add value to all types of industrial real estate. The skills Zac has developed early in his career, combined with his drive and motivation to surpass client expectations, is what makes him an excellent industrial real estate specialist.
