Tom Winkle

Sales Intern

Professional Experience

Tom Winkle joined DAUM after graduating from the University of Colorado's Leeds School of Business, where he achieved a double-major in Real Estate and Marketing. Prior to his time with DAUM, Winkle worked internationally as a development analyst for a Denver-based real estate development group.

Tom's marketing savvy, paired with the relationships he's cultivated with SoCal owners, developers, banks, and environmental professionals uniquely position him to provide extensive value to his clients.

Tom's preferred method of communication is face-to-face, focusing on the development of lasting relationships with high-character individuals. His creativity, grit, and consistent effort facilitate positive results for clients.
