Professional Experience

Steven Keung started his real estate career in 2020 as a multi-family residential investor before shifting to commercial real estate as a full-time endeavor. Steven's commercial emphasis is with industrial properties. Prior to real estate, Steven attended medical school where he completed his didactic years of training; however, after experiencing real property first-hand, he soon realized that his real passion was in real estate and decided to focus his career on it instead. Steven works as one of DAUM's associates in the Cerritos office with a focus on tenant representation for lease as well as the selling of industrial properties in the Mid-Counties market.

Steven's leisure time is usually spent running, biking, or spending time with family.
